PRACTICAL GUIDELINES FOR SPEAKERS

The conference programme is based on the number of papers, not the number of speakers. One paper may be presented by one, two or more speakers. However, the time allocated to everyone of the papers is equal, whatever the number of speakers at every paper.

The duration of your presentation depends on the number of papers to be presented in your session. Every session lasts 90 minutes to be shared by 3-6 papers, allowing every paper to be presented in 10-15 minutes, whatever the number speakers, followed by a discussion.

For that reason, you are kindly invited to respect the time allocated to you by the moderator at the beginning of your session. Please, notice that a "paper presentation" is not a "paper reading". Your full paper is not for your "paper presentation" but for a possible publication of selected papers after the conference. You are not invited to read your full paper during your presentation because there is a risk that you will not have enough time for that. Moreover, reading a paper will be annoying for your public.

So, you are kindly invited to prepare a short version of your paper to be presented in 10-15 minutes maximum depending on the number of papers to be presented in the session. An oral presentation without reading a text or a combination of oral and power point presentation is highly recommended. You may share your PPT on screen with the authorisation of your moderator.
